The journey of "STUDIO MITO" begins in 1998 thanks to the interesting joining between the more than decennary experience of Stefano Pirro and the uniqueness expression of architect Gabriele Rossi.

The two designers found fil rouge choosing to carry on contemporary living issues and trying to offer new solutions to continue "good drawings" logic of italian design: purposeful and well-established in researching. The direct consequence was the multidisciplinary interest fields, preferring that ones mostly related to the two designers (architecture, industrial design, interior decoration), but even on that ones related to visual communication and artistic-formal (fashion, graphic design).

STUDIO MITO is always a work in progress: it is in costant reserching of cialouge and collaboration between people with varied skills and competences.

Thanks to these premises, the Studio is able to satisfy every kind of design process need, counting on a prototypist and technical consultants group, who are always able to solve project realization problems, emphasizing the opening to constructive and sincere dialogue between the internal components and the many external collaborators.

They have given numerous lectuies and workshops at various universities both in Italy and abroad.
